 - Manisha Shrestha
- Discussion about Jeff's "Sabbatical" and moved on to new member introduction Manisha, who was there shortly after but we discussed her :)
- Update on 4th of July event.

It was well attended. The parade was around 50 people total, maybe 30 kids and 20 adults. Margo and Alaina helped escort the parade from the park to the pool.

Next year we would all like to see a better parade with more volunteers. Possibly have a BBQ with the July 4th party next year.

PA system provided by Jody Veeder was a hit! We can likely use that for other events as well. There was a discussion about some missing speakers that the district has somewhere and we need to find them?
- Tails and Trails

Marla was not present to give her input but there was discussion about a possible change in time, prior to 11am?

We discussed wanting to create a Facebook poll for input, maybe a different day as well?

Kudos were given for the Facebook posting that Kim has been all over!

We talked about the fact that 500+ homes have closed in the community but not everyone is on the neighborhood Facebook page
- Volunteer update for recurring programs

We need more leadership for volunteers and "how to" guides for all events to provide volunteers and pushing more event info out.

Discussion about resetting passwords via the mobile site.

We need to provide Kari with updates after events and we discussed the time of the boot camp not working well.

- 5:30pm Community engagement

We started discussing the lawn games and who should put them away, can life guards do it? is there a good way to "check out" the games.

Jumped to Finance Committee and we wrote down dates of upcoming meetings

Kim asked for an accounting of events so far this year.

We talked about how events are public and options on ticketing events etc. Pool fobs were brought up as a option

How to engage sponsors, guidelines for those sponsoring events maybe not so "in your face" when sponsors are selling themselves. Last year Christmas event was not sponsored but some of the committee felt it was as there was candy given out with a Realtors info on it. Talked about ticketing this event to ensure neighborhood kids get to see a "good santa"

Maybe not all events should be sponsored. We need a sponsorship package so sponsors know what they are getting and what we expect of them.

Invites to builders prospects.

- 5:50pm Farm to Inspiration Artisan Market

Last year feedback was ticket prices were to high and guests were limited as the event sold out.

Budget is $1500 ish Saturday Aug 24th and Kari can be there for that date. possibly 4pm?

Event should be like a "festival" build your own picnic?

Long tables vs clusters of tables?

Will vendors need permits? How much space will the vendors needs? Kari started brainstorming vendor ideas Lindsay mentioned Boot Hill Ranch, Mark mentioned Inventions Winery someone brought up spice people (not like the spice girls but cooking spices and herbs) Linda was going to contact the chamber of commerce, Mark is going to contact southlands for vendors, someone mentioned Bevy's Liquor in Parker, Someone mentioned music of a 1 man band? someone else mentioned Palisade fruits.

- 6:15pm Pooch Plunge

Mark mentioned we were short on tim

We discussed contacting previous years sponsors? dog theme brewery? other pet store ideas? giveaways?

- Kickball game for the kids

We also discussed a full on field day in the park and Margo mentioned that Newland may have some equipment for that?

Nerfwars got mentioned at some point.

Kari is going to get 2 kickballs and 8 bases

it will be BYOBeverage

2 age groups of games 0-7 and 8+ might need online registration

People can bring their grills to the park with lawn chairs.
